

Dads and Daughters

Mandurah

For girls, a father's love and support are extremely important. As the primary male role model in a girl's life, dads hold the key to his daughter's self-esteem and how she will grow up to see herself. A girl's image of herself as intelligent, interesting and capable is boosted by her father.

Dads often don't know their role with their daughters, especially when they are teens. Yet girls hunger for connection with their dads and stepdads. They need to know and feel that they are special to their father, that he respects her, that he is reliable and safe.

This workshop will give you some tips to build a rewarding father-daughter relationship.
