

Parenting Between Cultures

Mandurah

For parents and carers with children aged 0-12 years

Are you parenting in a culture different to your upbringing? Or are you looking for ways to balance cultural differences between you and your partner?

Raising children in a new country and different culture can be a challenge. Parents may wonder how to respond when children ask for sandwiches rather than cultural meals, or how to navigate unfamiliar customs such as playdates and sleepovers.

This workshop aims to empower parents who are culturally and linguistically diverse to raise children and young people between cultures with confidence.

We will be exploring:

- Culture and how it influences your parenting
- How culture is passed on to children
- What parts of culture work well and not well in your family
- How culture affects your child's identity and wellbeing
- Decision making that works for your family's culture
